DESIGN CHALLENGE:

The facade of modern architecture is recognized as an entirely new meaning system that is separated from the structure of the building and has been as much essential as interior through the various experiments; technical improvement, pervasive mass media, etc. As various interests and attempts to transform the building surface increase, the facade of modern architecture develops into new architectural status that creates the method of communication and becomes a media of exchanging information beyond the modification of the simple building materials. We hope to see various suggestions for new approach to innovative facade design with no boundaries and restrictions as many students full of passion and inspiration enter the competition.
